LOTS of Land for Rural Dwelling Houses, with large Fruit and Vegetable Gardens, adjoining the limits, mostly on the continuation of, French St. and Broadway, and a street laid out, 75 feet wide, in the range with Broadway, (as it runs from State Street to the Park.) This street is laid out about 100 rods through my lands, extending over the west end of Mt. Pleasant. This land is north of said much higher than the Farm, having a commanding view of the city and surrounding country.

Also, land for Orcharding and Farming, on the new State Road to Oldtown running by Coombs' Mills, situate beyond and near the first considerable elevation, having a view of some part of the city on its western side. This land is considered as good as the farm on which I live, where I have raised over 40 bushels of wheat to the acre, (as may be seen on the books of the P. A. Society,) and oats, hay and potatoes in that proportion. Some judgment may be formed also of my land for Fruit Trees on my or near the city, by examining my bearing trees and our Fruit Nurseries.

My land East of the Mills has a considerable growth of wood on it, and some timber for frames. We can go three turns a day, it being one of the easiest roads running out of Bangor.

Liberal terms will be given on it, and the size of the lots made to suit purchasers. N. HARLOW.

Bangor, March 25, 1854

☞ If any person, not advanced in life, should appreciate the probable results of a few years good business in Bangor, of purchasing land from an original lot, beginning at East Market Square, (the northerly part of Lot No. 68 Holland's Plan, as referred to,) where three leading and important streets are laid out passing into our great and important northern and western country, he can now do so. These streets will afford some of our finest seats for elegant Houses and valuable Fruit Establishments, without exception. It is only a strong wish to be relieved from part of my cares, and that of closing business of this kind which could induce me to sell at this time by the quantity. N. H.

McFarland's BURGLAR and FIRE PROOF SAFES!

THE undersigned would respectfully call the attention of the public to the above unequalled safeguard of property—proof against the destroying element of fire, as well as the most skillful burglar. To MERCHANTS, JEWELLERS, and BANK DIRECTORS, we would say, examine them and the proofs, and you will be convinced of their superiority over all other manufacture.

Our business is done in a plain, straightforward way, without resorting to humbug or large talk.

Below is one of the many testimonials we are daily receiving from all parts of the country and which speaks for itself. Messrs Pond & Hitchcock's Oil Store was situated directly under the Pearl-st House and was totally consumed in that great fire of August 23d

NEW YORK, Aug. 23, 1853.

Messrs Wm McFarland & Co.

Gentl—It affords us pleasure to inform you that the Fire and Burglar Proof Safe we purchased of you, preserved our book and papers, at the disastrous fire of the Pearl-st House, last evening, in the most perfect manner. Although it was covered thoroughly the fire with burning Rosin, and other Oils, and directly under a broken gas pipe, in the most intense heat, it remained true to its name and its contents were taken out warm and even scorched, and hardly bore the smell of fire. To anyone who may want of a superior Safe, a perfect safeguard against fire, we cheerfully recommend your manufacture, having had a personal experience of their excellence. Yours truly,

POND & HITCHCOCK.

Excelsior Stove!

PATENT SELF HEATING SMOOTHING IRON!

MANY important improvements have been made since the beginning of the present century, relieving and facilitating the labor of men by machinery and other modern inventions, but examples have been hearth neglected, until the introduction of the Patent Self Heating Smoothing Iron, which will relieve them, in a very great degree, from the excessive and fatiguing labor of Ironing, besides being a great saving of time and expense. This is now completely accomplished, economizing labor, time and expense, one certain wear and very durable. Hard wood coal from the stove will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room of a house or open air. Hatters' and Tailors' Irons are constructed upon the same principle, and possess equal superiority.

Lines written on the death of Mrs. J. B. M.

In the dark lonesome grave she's laid,
In the dark lone some grave;
'Twas night when they said to us the death
And no morn power could have.

Then slowly came the morning light—
So slow, it seemed to all come;
And we saw the fevered brow was white
And the lip was pale and dumb.

So quiet were those white hands folded,
Across her cloth'd breast,
So stilled the pulse each limb moulded,
Within before had been unrest.

But while our hearts were breaking,
"We placed by her some flowers,
And we felt that she was waking,
To a brighter soon than ours.

We miss her in the summer's pride,
And in the wintry dream;
But most of all as the young spring time
We miss the loved one here.

When as sure we hasten into life,
And the spring as some doth bring,
And earth with beauty all so rife,
Will to her death a mourner cling.

And morn and noon and night shall come,
And the dull years go by,
While we over will be lying lone,
So lone in the grave we lie.

And our dull sleep sad, wind will blow,
And rain shall fall on her,
But we think, O her who hath low,
And drop the silent tear.

Sacred to us this grassy mound,
Sacred the blossoming sod,
Sacred to us her memory now
We have given her up to God.

Impunity for Crime.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

I noticed with approbation and interest, the editorial remarks in your paper of the 4th inst., relative to the recent trial for murder, and the acquittal of Matthew P. Ward, a member of a wealthy, numerous and aristocratic family in Kentucky. If I understand the matter rightly, the material facts of the case are substantially these:

A humble, but very worthy Northern school teacher, by the name of Butler, keeping a high school in Louisville, where the Wards reside, had occasion to chastise a younger brother of the accused, whereupon Matthew and another brother prepared themselves with pistols and Bowie knives, repaired to the school house and there deliberately took the life of the preceptor.

So great was public indignation that a change of venue was obtained, and a trial had in another county. But the wealth and family connections of the Wards were so great as to enable them to monopolize the most eminent counsel far and near, and to exert such an influence over the court, witnesses, and jurors, as to procure an acquittal, not only on the charge of murder, but even of manslaughter, so that law and justice are cheated out of their dues, and the wealthy fiendish murderer, is permitted to go free, without any sort of punishment whatever. And that, too, though the whole school witnessed the horrid murder!

Mr. Crittenden and other eminent counsel are said to have volunteered their services in aid of such a lamentable result! With very just indignation you and other editors denounce the detested outrage, and the means by which the author of such an atrocious crime has been enabled to escape the penalty of violated law, and outraged humanity; and you justly consider his acquittal, the melancholy product of talent, wealth, and aristocracy, perniciously employed, in perverting the ends of law and justice.

In contemplating this great crime, and the deplorable means by which the trial for such an outrage upon personal rights, public law, and society's dearest interests, has been disposed of, the line of which too often disgraces the annals of our country, I have been led to inquire whether the malign influence of wealth, and aristocracy, which has just produced such a dangerous and shameful result in Kentucky, is not more or less at work in many of our N. England communities. Let any intelligent, observing mind, a stranger to consider the relations between cause and effect, contemplate the history of the community immediately around him, and then ask himself, whether or not a large portion of the crimes and outrages, the abuses of law, and the perversions of justice—in the city, town, or country, are not the work of the pernicious influences of wealth and aristocracy, either directly or indirectly exerted!

Yes, let him look at the shire of a neighboring county, in our own beloved Maine, where this same vicious and corrupting element has for a score of years been pursuing with fiendish ferocity, one of the most able, worthy, and useful citizens, that ever inhabited that county in course of which persecution, they have repeatedly resorted to some of the most infamous and damnable outrages, that ever disgraced this or any other country! And yet, such is the corrupt and controlling influence of their wealthy, family connections—such its propelling and repelling influence in secrecy and perjury, that law and justice, as in the Kentucky case, are powerless for good, but imperious for evil! These melancholy facts are notorious, and undeniable. And there is more, or less of this all-pervading evil in various portions of the State and Nation.

Let us, then, one and all, reserve a portion of our just indignation, at these enormities of the wealth and aristocracy of the South and West, for those committed in our midst, by the same malign influence. Yes, in moral, puritanical New England! It is time that a reformation was commenced nearer home, where, considering our ancestry, school houses, and churches, we are perhaps quite as guilty as our Southern and Western brethren.

In order to draw public attention to this grave subject—this great and enormous evil—I hope, Mr. Editor, you will give the communication a place in your columns. The Bible abounds with admonitions of caution against this powerful element in the perversion of right, laws, and justice. OLD TOWN.

☞ The City Council of Newburyport have under consideration the subject of providing a grand public dinner to the Sons and Daughters of Newburyport, from abroad, whom the ladies of that city have invited to meet them, at the old homestead on the fourth of July next.

This invitation of the ladies of "Old Newberry" to the wanderers from home, has caused many hearts to thrill and many resolutions to be formed in the minds of the Sons and Daughters of that ancient and attractive town to return once more to the old home on the fourth of July next. As one of the wanderers the writer of this, intends to be present with the throng, and to meet once again the aged and the youthful, and to listen to the story of the good old town and its notabilities.

We learn that the committee of the ladies who have extended the invitation have already received assurances which lead them to expect the presence of several thousand guests. This is hopeful of a grand time, and the pecuniary so many will impose the necessity upon all of being content to be talked to, rather than to peck: to talk. Let us all consent on that day to listen to the report of those who have kept watch and ward of the old domain and who have kept bright and warm the home-fires.

We learn that about twenty of the Sons and Daughters will be present from this city, and most of them, of course, with their mates.

My Schools and Schoolmasters: or, the Story of My Education. By Hugh Miller, Author of "Foot-prints of the Creator," &c.—Boston: Gould & Lincoln. 1854. pp. 451.

Hugh Miller has become well known to reading people. He is one of the best examples of a self-educated man; that is, of a man who has depended more upon himself than society for his education. And this book tells the process. The book has much interest as the story of an individual life. It shows well how a tough, Scotch nature worked its way, by dint of itself by hard toil, informed itself with science and refined itself with literature, even in the homelinest of its drudgery, and has made a place for itself in the world for expanding somewhat with its native mountain development. There is much interesting, too, as a picture of Scotch life. It smells of the heather. It is not Miller only the story of a personal life which revolved in a very narrow out-of-the-way sphere; but it is the book it gives us into the huts where poor men lived, into the larger Scottish life which gives much of the charm to the book. Though it could as Scott has already anticipated him and made Scotland known and familiar to the world, as the life of hardly any other people is known.

Miller's mind is one of great expansiveness—a copiousness which is almost oppressive to the reader. It is seen in his style, which is prodigally exuberant, and "without the following folk." And the main fault of it, here in this book especially, is, that it is altogether over the head of the common world. Natural scenery is described not merely in the distinct of the poet, which reaches all minds, but in the parlance of the naturalist. The style may truly be some of his fellow craftsmen whom we hope this delightful autobiography will stimulate with the aim and endeavor after the same elevated work which this stone-cutter of Cromarty has travelled like a man and a giant.

The same publishing house put out with this a lecture by Hugh Miller on The Two Records, the Mosaic and the Geological, which did not exhibit the wonted ability, which the Christian world will count in reconciling Moses with Geology, is at the least a valuable contribution towards it. It is certainly ingenious, and cannot fail to be read, and to reward those who read.

☞ The New York Express states that recently Andrew H. Palmer of the town of Winslow, Kennebec county, in the State, arrived in New York by the New Haven Railroad. On arriving at the Railroad station house, Canal street, he engaged a hackman by the name of Campfield to take him to a first class hotel. The driver conducted him to the boarding house of Andrew Watts, 117 Oak street, and demanded $5 for the ride. Palmer appealed to Watts, thinking the charge exorbitant, who said it was reasonable, the night being stormy and wet. He paid the money demanded. Palmer stopped over night with Watts and was charged $10 for his lodging. Watts was arrested and compelled to refund $15 besides having his license revoked.

☞ Washington correspondents say that the recent Slidell foray upon Cuba, and the vote of the insane bill are regarded by many as new issues to divide attention before the public with the Nebraska scheme. The Administration dare not meet this issue squarely, and hence these side issues. Indeed, it can not perceive that the Administration, parise, has more than a corporal's guard in Congress, but without its enormous patronage it would be reduced so far below a dead level that the hand of the resurrectionists could not reach it.

☞ The weather yesterday was very beautiful and becoming the season, and the young leaves ventured to unfurl themselves, and the birds were on a swell.

☞ The Emperor of China has issued an edict requesting his Council to deliberate on the best method of establishing a paper currency and otherwise relieving the distress of his subjects.

☞ The new three dollar gold pieces have appeared in Massachusetts. They are so handsome as to excite envy.

Correspondence of the Whig and Courier.

AUGUSTA, May 6.

Usage and the calendar have ordained this as the season when farmers should turn their steps field-ward. Seed-time, however, has not yet arrived on the Kennebec—although by grace of a few warm days, the violets and "May flowers" are beginning to unfold their petals, and the grass struggles forth in patches on the sheltered nook and on the sunny hillside.—To-day, the usual breezes are changed into old northern blasts, which talk of roadless wildfields yet unbroken by the Thaw King, and which send us back again to the protection of garments and mittens. This season is in truth exceedingly backward, and if it has allowed the farmers to complete their spring work must be brief indeed. Nothing can be done for some days at least in the way of plowing.

In consequence of the coldness of the weather, the Kennebec has quickly receded from the high point it had attained on Monday last, and is now but five or six feet above the ordinary level. The freshet here, although one of the highest on record—reaching within two feet of the flood of 1831—passed off without material damage. The breakage in the canal wall, or boat-head, at the dam, which has been noticed in your paper, occurred before the recent freshet, and is attributable to the temporary manner in which a part of the repairs were made after the great fire of last fall. About eighty feet of the wooden bulk-head then erected, has been carried away, and cannot be permanently replaced until the water is low. In the time, workmen have commenced the erection of a log-dam across the breach, in order to furnish a head of water for the factory and machine-shops. This will be finished in a few weeks, unless another freshet intervenes. A regard to some energy and some economy should dictate to the Company the erection of a substantial stone wall on the eastern side of the canal; and I think this will be done.

The new railroad bridge at this place had a severe trial by the freshet, and although unfinished it has proved to be of great strength. By an unfortunate oversight however, a sure fence is placed too low for permanent safety. A rise of five feet higher than the freshet of Monday would, in the general opinion, have swept it entirely away. Since a rise we has twenty-two years ago, and may possibly have again.—The bridge can be raised, I understand and certainly ought to be. It stands now about six feet lower than Kennebec bridge.

On new city government, as you are aware, is "liberal" in its character—that is, a majority of the Council, and many of the officers elected, are in sentiment opposed to the Maine law. Nevertheless, there have been some liquor prosecutions under its auspices. One or two of the worst rum-holes in the city have been indicted by liberals themselves, who declared that they ought to be and should be shut up. In the cases taken hold of they will undoubtedly succeed; but it will be by the efficacy of that same Maine Law which they generally oppose and wish to have repealed. There are many among the liberals who candidly acknowledge this, and admit that the present law gives a power of suppression in such cases not before attainable.

An aggravated case of juvenile drunkenness occurred here last week, and was the foundation of one of the prosecutions referred to. A soldiers character, on water street, so drunk of and liberated beverage to some boys of twelve to fifteen years of age, who, after becoming partially intoxicated, proceeded to pour the liquor by force down the throat of a younger boy, rendering him crazy, and producing serious if not lasting consequences. One statement is that the victim voluntarily drank some of the liquor, in the first instance. However that may be, the case shows a necessity of something stringent in the way of legislation.

There is nothing very new here, in the line of politics. The leaders in the regular democracy are determined to stand by the "regular nominations" and if they are forced to take Cary for a candidate, to accept him only by virtue of a regular nomination. The liberal mass convention comes off a week hence to nominate a regularly called democratic convention; and the latter may find itself so constituted as to apply to register the edicts of the former. If this be done, it will tend very largely to sweep the vote for Anson P. Morrill. There are some among the regulars, mostly leaders too, who will never support a candidate pitched upon the party in this manner. The feeling among Governor Hubbard's friends in this region is more bitter than ever against the wild-cats. The unfair and ungenerous manner in which he was slaughtered by them still rankles and festers—and the subsequent course of division pursued by the Chandler men of '52, then and now, is far from being calculated to heal the sore. Add to this, the determination of many democrats who swallowed and licked up the Pilsbury nomination of last year, not to be ridden down by the pro-slavery anti-liquor-law section of the party—and we have sufficient ground for believing that to nap it in the democracy will be a great deal nearer the mark than it was last year. As friends of humanity, freedom and progress, we shall rejoice in the signal overthrow that apparently awaits the wild-cats—inasmuch as that defeat will inure to the benefit of the Whig party of the State, we rejoice also—for we believe that party to be generally composed of men who are opposed to the anti-constitutional encroachments of slavery in the Union, and to the violation of sacred compacts, at the behest of slaveholders; and also in favor of proper legislation to sustain the great principles of morality and temperance in disregard of which will cause the ultimate corruption of any party. W.

☞ The correspondent of the Bath Mirror, a entirely at fault supposing that we have been in any manner influenced in our remarks touching the injurious discussions, recently held in Bath, touching the grade of schools, by any private communications received from that city. We have received no such letters. We have judged of the matter from what has appeared in the Bath papers and have judged of the general scope and bearing—the temper, and tendency of the discussion instead of seeking to the abstract and partial issue and the logical nicety of the discussion.

Disturbance in Chelsea.

On Sunday last J. S. Orr, an insane man, who blows a trumpet and proclaims the end of the world, held forth in Chelsea when his hearers were attacked by city Irishmen. The Americans gave way but soon both parties were augmented in numbers and rallied and the Americans overpowered the Irish. Stones and brickbats were the weapons used. The windows of the Catholic Church on Cottage street were all broken. An adventurous lad named Wm. Hall, ascended to the tower of the church and succeeded in tearing off the Cross, which he threw to the ground and it was speedily demolished.

Several persons were injured.

The authorities of Chelsea suppressed the disorder by a vigorous arrest of the leaders.

☞ The Democrat speaks in highly complimentary terms of the recent election of Benjamin Plummer as Secretary and Treasurer of the Penobscot Mutual Fire Insurance Company. Mr. Plummer was elected by a unanimous vote. The Company with which he has been so long connected is conducted upon a liberal and fair system with regard to what is equitable and just, rather than the strict, partial, technical, break-neck exactness of the law, in the settlement of losses. It is one of the safest and cheapest insurance offices in the country and the confidence which it has inspired is every year adding to its resources and lessening its assessments.

☞ Joseph Baker Esq., a well read lawyer of Augusta, has taken the editorial chair of the Kennebec Journal. Mr. Baker is abundantly qualified for the responsible station and will no doubt put the Journal as old secure for it the continued confidence of the Whigs of Kennebec and of the party throughout the State. We cordially extend to him the hand of fellowship to share labors responsibilities and honors of the editorial fraternity.

☞ Dr. Heyward, the Maine Law candidate for Mayor of Wilmington, Delaware, was elected over John M. Allderdice, the regular whig nominee, by 171 majority. E. S. R. Butler, the Maine Law candidate for Alderman, is also elected by the same majority.

☞ The bridge and dam across the Sebec river at Sebec Village, were carried away by the freshet last week. It will cost about $1200 to rebuild them.

☞ The Maine Law Democrats of Maine are to hold a State Convention at Portland on the seventh day of June next, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor.

☞ The agent for the sale of the "Incorrigible Pen" is now in this city. We have tried these pens and find them of good quality.

Important Movement.

A Nebraska Emigration Convention met at Worcester yesterday, and held two sessions in the City Hall. The object of the meetings, as declared in the resolutions, appears to be to direct a systematic emigration to the territories upon a gigantic scale. We copy one of the resolutions:

"Resolved, That whatever may be the final action of Congress upon the Nebraska Bill, so called, now under consideration, that we ought not to leave the territories as they are. We ought, by acting in the territories, by our emigrants in the territories, by our moral influence in the territories, by our votes in the territories, to cast now there the cornerstone of Freedom, until its sure and final triumph is secure therein.

The leaders of the enterprise are bold, resolute spirits, with the best Puritan elements of character.—Boston Transcript, 4th.

☞ The testimony of a political opponent to the ability, faithfulness, and correct official conduct of the Whig Representative in Congress from this district, Hon. L. Washburn, is thus given in the last number of the Bangor Jeffersonian:—

"Mr. Washburn's Speech on the Nebraska Bill, is one of the ablest and most comprehensive yet delivered in the House. It presents a mass of judiciously selected documentary evidence of the hostility of the fathers of the Republic to Negro Slavery, showing that it was unmistakeably their policy to circumscribe that curse and reproach in every possible way, and eventually drive it from our soil. The Speech closes with a pertinent application of these republican principles to the measure whose direct object is to abolish the slavery restriction which was established by Congress thirty-four years ago, and which has remained with no effort to disturb it until the era in which the little giants of propagandism concoct political gunpowder plots, to usurp the reins of the general government.

The Nebraska Bill—the Tactics to be Pursued.

WASHINGTON, May 7.

Efforts to take up the Nebraska bill will be made the coming week, by temporarily disposing of the preceeding business on the docket. The opponents of the bill threaten that if the regular business is neglected for the bill, they will oppose several important bills when they come up, and throw the responsibility upon the friends of the Nebraska movement.

Georgia.

The corn and cotton crops in the region of Cuthbert are uncommonly backward, owing to the long continued cold weather. The wheat crop is but little injured, however, while the fruit crop will be an entire failure.

Our exchanges, almost without exception, (says the Georgia House Gazette,) bring unfavorable accounts of the state of the crops in all sections of the South. The recent frosts have greatly injured both cotton and corn, while fruit and early vegetables have been generally destroyed. Fears are also expressed lest the wheat crop has also sustained serious injury.—We do not remember so unfavorable a Spring as the present for several years. Although early so promising, the frosts have blasted the hopes of the planter in many sections, and even render it necessary in some cases to replough and replant.

☞ At a meeting of the Voters in Ward One on Monday last, the following resolve was offered by D. M. Howard, and passed unanimously:

Resolved, That all persons that vote in the negative of loaning the credit of this city to the Penobscot and Kennebec and the Oldtown and Lincoln Railroads, be compelled to take a seat in the baggage cars, paying the same amount of freight per ton as other common luggage.

N. H. COLTON, Ward Clerk.

Gold has been discovered at the Cape of Good Hope. Mr. Washburn of Maine presented resolutions of the Legislature of that State asking for indemnity for lands taken to carry into effect the Treaty of Washington, and in favor of the French Spoliation Bill. Laid on the table, and ordered to be printed. Nothing of importance done. Adjourned at 1½ o'clock.

A great truth.

That was a true and noble statement made by Kossuth to the clergy recently: "I have learned republics may be cease to be Christians but Christianity can never cease to be republican." The Gospel is a great leveler and equalizer, but it does its work, not by bearing down what which is truly exalted, but by elevating that which is unduly depressed.—The Gospel turns away from the adventitious distinctions of man's social state, and engages itself with his moral condition and relations.—It attributes to all men the same origin, responsibility, sinful moral character, and ruin, and sets before all the same means of rescue, and the same high destiny. It individualizes each man, and in all the great essentials of humanity it makes no difference between him and his fellow man. Its ultimate subjective purpose is to lead men to live like Christ, and to love their neighbors as themselves." It must in its extension annihilate many distinctions, and produce a feeling of true equality. Its whole tendency is to republicanism. If this be true, there will be no permanent republicanism in Europe till christianized.

Accident at Niagara.

Several days since a waggon and two horses slipped over the bank of the Niagara river, at the rear of the Clifton house, near the falls and were precipitated a distance of one hundred and fifty feet, to a projection, about two thirds down the precipice, where they lodged. Singular to relate one of the horses escaped without serious injury, while the other was killed. The wagon was uninjured with the exception of a broken axletree. The living brute was with some difficulty lowered to a safe bottom, by means of ropes, and towed thence safely to the landing-place.

TEXAS.—A gentleman, just down from the upper Trinity county, informs us that the wheat crops in that section are unusually promising. The county of Dallas has thus far proved to be fully as well adapted to the growth of wheat as any other portion of the United States. The wheat crop of that section yield an average of twenty bushels to the acre, weighing from sixty to sixty-five pounds to the bushel—which will compare favorably with the yield and quantity of that raised in the very best.

YANKEE NOTIONS.—We have seen in Boston many attractive novelties, but among them all, none is more worthy of notice than the celebrated Oak Hall Clothing House. Besides, you will there be sure to get the gaid pen gus in your purchases, an important idea with a Yankee. One Price Cash System.

A letter from Washington to the New York Tribune states that Messrs. Eddy and Lane of Indiana, Vail and Lilly of New Jersey, and Green of Ohio, have changed front and will go for the Nebraska bill. Other members, from Maine and Connecticut are suspected.

Holloway's Pills the best Remedy for the Cure of Dropsy.—Extract of a letter from Mr. E. Williams, dated Malden, March 1, 1852. "To Professor Holloway—Sir: Feeling grateful for the benefit my wife has derived by the use of your Pills, I can scarcely do any thing to express you of it. Soon after the birth of her last child, her feet and ankles began to swell, and eventually her whole body, strongly indicating dropsy—this occurred at the turn of life. Combined the best medical advice, but her health continued to decline, it was then your pills, which, we happy to say have restored her to health and perfect health. ☞See advertisement.

Dr. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters have been sustained through more than one entire generation, and with a liberality unknown to any other medicines, and an instance is not known by the proprietors, where they have not been of benefit to those using them for the cure of complaints as recommended. In not the long continued unwavering support, by the public, of the Sherry Wine Bitters, sufficient evidence of its superiority over every other medicine offered for sale? It is manufactured precisely the same and the component parts are the same, as they were at its first introduction. Waterville, April 7, 1854

KENNEDY'S

The Greatest of the age!

MR KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, from the worst scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two. He has now in his possession the testimony of its virtues in several within the last two years.

The Pills are also warranted to cure a nursing sore breast.

One bottle of the bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Five to six bottles will cure the worst form of blotches.

Two bottles are warranted to cure ringworm in the neck and shoulders.

Half a dozen bottles are warranted to cure the worst cases of ring worm.

One bottle is warranted to run all the pimples on the face.

Five bottles are warranted to cure running ears and blotches on the face.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ring worm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate cases of rheumatism.

Large do Bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the most severe case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure warranted when the adequate quantity is taken.

Nothing looks so disgustingly disagreeable to those who have their health, as the unnatural redness of the day so that a common weed growing upon the pastures and along old stone walls, should cure every humor in the system, yet it is now proved fact. If you have a humor, why not try to start it from your face or arms or about the neck, where it can be seen and cured. He has sold over a thousand bottles of this medicine in the vicinity of Boston, you know the effects of it in every case. He has recently done some of his great cures in Newburyport, Mass—one in Salem, one in Gloucester, one in Marblehead, one in Lynn, one in Charlestown, one in Cambridge, one in Roxbury, one in Dorchester, one in Dedham, one in Medfield, one in Medway, one in Franklin, one in Milford, one in Hopkinton, one in Upton, one in Uxbridge, one in Worcester, one in Grafton, one in Millbury, one in Sutton, one in Northbridge, one in Douglas, one in Oxford, one in Dudley, one in Charlton, one in Southbridge, one in Sturbridge, one in Brookfield, one in Spencer, one in Leicester, one in Worcester, one in Boylston, one in Northboro, one in Marlboro, one in Hudson, one in Stow, one in Acton, one in Concord, one in Lowell, one in Andover, one in Haverhill, one in Amesbury, one in Salisbury, one in Newburyport, one in Ipswich, one in Essex, one in Gloucester, one in Rockport, one in Marblehead, one in Salem
